

Tue, 27 Jul 2004

Under Siege from Viruses, Worms, Spy-Ware, Hackers, and Old-Fashioned Crashes, Small Business Owners Now Have Cost-Effective Software Solution

Under siege from viruses, worms, spy-ware, hackers, and old-fashioned threats like computer crashes, fire, theft, or natural disasters, small business owners now have a cost-effective software solution. Big companies spend millions to protect their valuable data. Small businesses can finally afford to do the same.

Large companies use IT staffs and technology solutions for protection. Small business owners lacking these resources can solve the problem with an affordable, secure, and automatic software package called Wherever-Ware®, from Rover USA.

“What do worms and hurricanes have in common? They pose a serious risk that can mean the difference between success and failure in the marketplace.” says Bryan Kearney, CEO of Rover USA, an Internet software solution provider for small businesses. “We offer small businesses the latest technology at a price they can afford and make it accessible from anywhere.”

Using enterprise technology, Wherever-Ware® delivers a complete software package for small businesses. It requires no hardware, installation, or IT staff. Using 128-bit SSL encryption, this web-based solution protects and manages work files, emails, contacts, and schedules.

An aerial photography company based in Florida uses Rover technology to protect its digital photographs and client information. “I have minimal knowledge about technology – I don’t even have a computer on my desk. Now I can stop reminding everyone to backup their data,” says Colette Eddy, President and small business owner. “Rover gives me confidence that when the next crisis erupts, I’ll still be in business.”

People forget to backup and when they do it is usually to a CD, zip disk, or external hard drive. The practice of storing backup data at the same physical location offers no protection from hurricanes, floods, tornados, fires, or theft. Wherever-Ware® delivers a preparedness plan that backs up files everyday to a secure off-site data facility without even a key stroke of effort. In addition, Rover’s mobile office offers access to files 24/7 from anywhere in the world and easy file sharing between business partners.

Wherever-Ware®, $29.95 per month per user, is available at www.roverusa.com.